

SUSTAINABILITY POLICY

In the heart of the Sorrento Peninsula, Hotel Bellevue Syrene works every day to reduce its environmental impact as much as possible. Aware of the climate crisis and its serious consequences, the hotel has undertaken a process aimed at raising awareness among its guests of the value of their choice: staying at Hotel Bellevue Syrene means taking care of the planet even while travelling. For this reason, Management has made sustainability a central element of its mission.

The hotel's management aims to enhance the human, environmental and cultural resources of the local area, giving preference every day to regional products purchased from small local producers. In this way, it supports the growth of the local economy and helps promote awareness of the local culture. Hotel Bellevue Syrene rejects all forms of discrimination, violence, harassment, exploitation and sex tourism, and sees diversity as an opportunity to broaden its perspective on the world; for this reason, every guest, regardless of their background, will always feel welcome.

The staff represents a central resource for the company: thanks to continuous training and an in-depth knowledge of the property, employees are able to offer each guest a tailor-made stay, assisting them with their every need.

The Organization also undertakes to monitor its impact on the local area by periodically measuring the indicators identified as benchmarks for achieving its objectives.

The staff is always available to advise guests on activities to enjoy during their holiday, providing information on archaeological sites, nature trails and food and wine experiences in the surrounding area, as well as directions on public and private means of transport to reach them.

The hotel's gastronomic offering draws inspiration from the coastal and Campanian traditions, follows the seasonality of ingredients and enhances their flavour through carefully selected preparation techniques. Almost all suppliers of goods and services are local: a conscious choice by Management to promote the excellence of the local area and reduce emissions associated with the supply chain.
